

uploaded_file

Two monkeys, Miko and Lala, loved playing in the jungle, but one day they found a hungry lion, Leo, trapped under a fallen tree. Instead of running, they decided to help. Together, they pushed and tugged until Leo was free. Grateful, Leo promised never to harm them. Instead, he became their protector. From that day on, the jungle was safer for all. Miko, Lala, and Leo spent their days playing by the river, sharing fruits, and laughing under the golden sun. Their unlikely friendship became a legend, reminding everyone that kindness can turn even the fiercest into family.